BRANSON AUCTION REPORT - April 17-18

We (Johnsons) were the only FSAAC people at the sale, and we only saw one acquaintance from the Fort Smith area. Approximately 215 cars presented; we didn't watch all of them. There weren't many outstanding true antiques, but there were a few 60's to 70's cars which would have made good drivers.

The flashiest car was a '76 Buick Century Wagon with piano keys painted down the side, which was Liberace's personal car. A '59 Austin London Taxi was a cute addition, it had a coin box and step-up on the passenger side. The biggest surprise was a 1958 Packard Hawk. Starting at the back view, you think you're looking at a Studebaker. But when you get to the hood, it's catfished out and has the Packard name. Bid to 51K, reserve at 60K. A 1960 International Travelall with really nice lines, totally restored, went for 33k. I thought one of the best bargains we saw was a '73 Lincoln Mark IV with 14,000 miles, like new condition. Went for 6800.

Here are some of the others; good, bad, and ugly:
